

Inventory of historically and culturally significant buildings and complexes in Aceh

No.	006
Name	Rumoh Aceh (Aceh Traditional House)
Location	Siron Jaya Village, Ingin Jaya sub-district, Great Aceh
Present and Past Function	House
Date of Inventory	August 2 nd , 2005
Source	Inventory Team

A: the building
A.1: Plan	-
A.2: Facades	Perspective	Front Facade
A.3: typical design details	Wooden Stairs	Gable
	Wooden Window

	Stage House	Hanging Veranda
B: construction of the building
B.1:	Construction method applied: all wooden structure using the knock-down system. The main material used is wood. Bamboo was used as a material for the floor and zinc for the roof.
B.2: construction details
	Joint structure system	Column and Beam

	Foundation	Floor Structure
B.3: cross-section of the building
C: the interior of the building
C.1: interior details	- It has two main columns made from a selected wood. The first main column is 'Bak Thu' wood that symbolises the male/king/husband and another column was made from 'Bak Manee' wood that symbolised the female/queen/wife. [could you translate the terms into Malay]
D: State of repairs of the	This house is in a fair condition but not really well maintained.

building
E: history of the building
E.1: date of construction	-
E.2: ownership	-
E.3: use of the building	Private House
E.4: changes to the building	The verandah railing looks new. I think the zinc roof is also new.
F: urban context of the building
F.1: location	- This building is located in Siron Jaya village, Lambaro sub-district, Great Aceh..
F.2: description	-
F.3: history of the neighbourhood	-
F.4: location of the neighbourhood in the city	 The map shows the island of Aceh, divided into Aceh Besar and Aceh Barat. Key locations include Banda Aceh, Kota Jantho, and various sub-districts like Lambaro, Sibire, and Indra Puri. A red arrow points to Lambaro, indicating the location of the building. Other features include the airport, hot springs, and various roads and view points.
G: summary of the historical value and development of the building	This is a traditional Acehnese house in Lambaro. It is a modest house without much ornamentation. Although certain modifications have been made using modern materials for the roof, for example, nevertheless the house still serves as a family residence and is in a rather original village setting.